Charles Dickens, one of the greatest British writers lived in England in the 19th century. As a young man he started working in the office but he didn't like it. Office was too boring for him. This is when Dickens decided to become a writer.

His first classic novel :”Oliver Twist” came out in 1837 and was a huge success. After that Dickens published many more novels and stories. In 1842 he travelled to America to talk about his books. The writer went to America again in 1867 because the Americans loved his work.

Charles Dickens died three years later on June 9th, in 1870 in Kent, England. He was a talented and remarkable writer that people respect and read to this day.
